SUMMARY

An ammunition storage area, annotated on the referenced Air Target Chart as an associated facility of the Bobruysk Airfield, is located 6.6 kilometers (km) south of Bobruysk and 2.3 km south-southeast of Bobruysk Airfield (Figure 1). Two probable all-weather gravel roads provide access to the eastern edge of the airfield and to Bobruysk. Bobruysk Barracks and Headquarters 22nd Tank Division Citadel (AL-3) is located 7 km to the north-northeast. Other military installations are located in Bobruysk.

The area covers 165 acres and contains 34 gable- and quonset-roofed ammunition storage buildings, one bunker and six support buildings (Figures 2 and 3). The ammunition storage buildings are located on individual hardstands and are dispersed throughout the installation in wooded areas.

The area is enclosed by a security fence with sentry towers at each corner. A probable gate and a guard house are located on the north side of the storage area.

This installation is covered by TALENT photography, and KEYHOLE missions

Comparative analysis revealed the same general level of usage

Significant changes

include the addition of three ammunition storage buildings, each approximately 120 by 40 feet, and a new internal road which almost bisects the area. No other changes are observed.
